PUC APPOINTS DWYER TO OVERSEE ENFORCEMENT

13-year agency veteran to further enhance agency's ongoing focus on enforcement

Austin, TX – As part of the agency's ongoing modernization efforts, the Public Utility Commission of Texas today named Davida Dwyer deputy director of the agency's Legal Division and head of the agency's enforcement efforts. A graduate of the University of Texas School of Law, Dwyer is highly regarded for her grasp of regulatory complexity.

"In 2020, we expanded the resources available to the enforcement function by moving it into our Legal division, and we're elevating our focus further by devoting the attention of a talented leader like Davida to it," said Executive Director Thomas Gleeson. "A vital function like enforcement demands a leader of Davida's integrity, tenacity and experience. We're fortunate to have her on our team."

In addition to staff attorney, Dwyer has served in a series of crucial roles at the PUC since 2008, including direct advisor to former commissioners Barry Smitherman, Kenneth Anderson and Shelly Botkin. She and her family live in Austin.
